Description	Multiple SQL injection vulnerabilities in Class-1 Forum 0.24.4 and 0.23.2, and Clever Copy with forums installed, allow remote users to execute arbitrary SQL commands. The vulnerabilities are located in the search functionality of the application. The search functionality is implemented using a SQL query that concatenates user input with a hardcoded string. This allows an attacker to inject malicious SQL code that can be executed by the database. The vulnerabilities are present in the search functionality of the application, which is used to search for posts and comments.
