Description	Unrestricted file upload vulnerability in admin.bbcode.php in Connectix Boards 0.7 and earlier allows remote authenticated users to upload arbitrary files to the web server. The vulnerability exists because the application does not validate the file type before uploading it. This can be exploited by sending a request with a file type that is not supported by the application, such as a .php file. The application will then upload the file and execute it, allowing the attacker to run arbitrary code on the server.
